ALL SORTS.

—Pigeon shooting at the track today.

—Buy the Tiger Hat and none other. *f 26 1m —Lung Protectors at Thaxter's Drug Store.

—The Minstrels drew a crowded house last night.

—For cold feet, get a Hot Water Bag at Thaxter's.

—A sensational divorce suit is talked of in Reno.

—Silver City will be down here today to back its favorite horse.

—Blumenthal & Cohn are sole agents for the Tiger Hat. *f 26 1m

—The funeral of the late Emperor William took place on Friday.

—John Sweeney is hauling brick to begin his new building on the lot North of Hark's meat market.

—It is reported that C. H. Stoddard, formerly of the Lake House, has fallen heir to an estate valued at $6,000.

—Lost—A small gold locket containing two pictures, supposed to be two short pieces of chain attached, Leave at this office.

—Hawthorne physicians vaccinate Chinamen and Indians at two bits each and charge white men five dollars for similar service.

—The APPEAL has received the cards for the marriage of Mr. P. H. Mack to Miss Katie Mulholland, daughter of the veteran editor of the Tryo Independent.

—Joseph Platt is going below this evening to lay in a fresh supply of Spring goods. He sent a shipment of goods here not long ago, but advertising worked them all off.

—Episcopal services will be held as follows today: At St. Peter's Episcopal Church at 11 A. M., and at the State Prison at 2 P. M. Empire service at 7:30 P. M. Geo. R. Davis Rector.

—The matinee of Haverly's Minstrels drew a full house yesterday afternoon, but the fun was mostly spoiled by the puffing of a fire engine on the Bank's corner during the performance.

—The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs and pulmonary complaints.

—A California wife in suing for divorce charges that another woman seduced her husband with "the promise of social position and the lavish use of money." This is certainly a strong combination for a weak, yielding man to fight against.

—Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the Spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

—The Right Rev. Abiel Leonard, D. D., the new Missionary Bishop of Nevada and Utah, passed through Carson last evening en route for Virginia City. He was met at the depot by Rev. Mr. Davis and several ladies of the parish. He will officiate at St. Peter's Church on Sunday next.

—The Reno Journal announces that its columns are open to the Republican Central Committee this Fall. Free of charge. Last Fall the party got along without the Reno Journal and won with a clean sweep. It can probably still afford to dispense with the influence of the Journal.

From the offer of the Journal we assume that the editor is just recovered from his surprise over the Republican success.

—The Virginia Chronicle gravely informs its readers that the attempt on the part of Republican leaders to manufacture enthusiasm on the occasion of the State Central Committee meeting last Thursday, was a failure. On the strength of this lack of hilarious enthusiasm the Chronicle solemnly prognosticates a clean Democratic sweep of Nevada this Fall. The meeting alluded to was simply a business meeting of the Committee in a private place, and no outsiders invited.

FENCING WASHOE LAKE.

A Protest Against the Act of the Ranchers.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL:—The best hunting and fishing ground of the Carson end of Washoe Lake is fenced in. What becomes of the wild rice? We cannot get to the game. The Fish Commissioner stocks the Lake with fish and we are not permitted to catch them. It is about time to teach these greedy ranchmen that they have no more right to shut off the Lake from public use than the public have to close all roads to their ranches. A man has no more right to close the Lake shore than he has to fence in the sea. Those ranchmen have become unbearable. We want the beach and an open drive round the Lake shore. It will cost more than their ranches are worth to prevent it. It is said that Washoe Lake is not on the map. The Lake belongs to the United States all the same, and the fish and the game belong to the people, and the shore of the Lake belongs to the people to stand on it to fish, and walk on to shoot, to land a boat on, to camp on, or to drive a team on. The pleasure-seekers of the deep mines of Storey county, and the hard working men in the shops of Carson have been outraged without reason, till patience and quietness have reached the utmost limit. I speak the sentiments of Storey and Ormsby counties when I say we will have a public drive round Washoe Lake unobstructed by fences. If we cannot get our rights in a peaceable way we will appeal to the Legislature; failing there we will law them until the last hoof of their starved stock is used up in litigation. This is strong language, but when a man has hired a team and got within 300 yards of the Lake and is stopped by a locked gate behind which is a wild looking man with a shot gun threatening to fill him with lead, it is excusable.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

This old reliable melo-drama will be presented on Tuesday evening with real bloodhounds, two Topsy and all the modern appliances. An immense cast throughout.

Races Today.

There will be racing at the track today. Two good trotting races, and also some foot racing. Admission free.

—Some years ago James Flood, the millionaire, ordered a statue of Bacchus of a local San Francisco sculptor, and when the work was done got a stingy freak and declined to pay. The man who chiseled Bacchus declined to be chiseled by Flood, and sued for $1,600, which the Court awarded him. Anyone would imagine that a man of Flood's millions would know better than to have a petty suit of that sort.

The Indians Destroying the Trout.

A correspondent of the Gazette writes from Pyramid Lake as follows:

The Piutes line the river banks at shallow places to spear the spawning trout. It seems like a beastly shame to see between one and two hundred Indians engaged in this work, and know that three or four tons of fish are captured in this way. Whenever a shallow, sandy bar affords a spawning-ground, you can find Jim and his ugly weapon. There is something wrong with the present fish law. It should be so revised to do away with this wholesale slaughter, for you cannot call it anything else. After depositing her eggs the female keeps the male company while he rubs the eggs into the sand. In order to do this he lunges against the spot and rubs with his side, or back. The female is stationary between these two lunges and it does not require much science to plunge a spear into her at this time or into the male when he rubs. No wonder our fisherman say the law is faulty and that ignorance of the matter allowed its passage.

Changes in Pyramid Lake.

The surface of Pyramid Lake is gradually lowering, while there seems to be a corresponding rise in the waters of Winnemucca or Mud Lake. Some stockmen and vaqueros say that the change becomes very evident as they ride along the shores of Pyramid and see bluffs where a decade ago there was a gentle slope, etc. Many say they can notice the change in the rock which gives this lake its name. At McCormack's place, near the mouth of Mud Lake slough, a person could easily ford twelve years ago, whereas now at this point there is a width of 100 feet and a depth of 50 feet of water. Farther down the shore of this lake Andy Russel and some other stockmen built a stone corral some fifteen years ago. If Andy would like to see the foundation of that structure he could only do so by taking a twenty-five foot dive. I have heard that the Indians claim that the surface of these bodies of water change about every quarter of a century; that the water in Mud Lake rises to a certain limit and then lowers, while the water in Pyramid rises, etc. I cannot vouch for the truth of this statement, but I will endeavor to learn the facts on my next visit to the reservation.

The New Railroad Disease.

The new epidemic among the locomotive engineers which is spreading all over the country, is puzzling medical men.

It appears that when a Chicago, Quincy and Burlington freight car is hitched on behind a locomotive the engineer is seized with a giddiness and a partial paralysis of the right hand, which prevents him from pulling the lever of his engine. He generally is obliged to seek his home at once and partake of warm brandy or some other stimulant. The disease is epidemic but does not last long.

The removal of the C. B. & Q. freight car restores the engineer to his normal condition and regular pulse, and his convalescence is assured as long as the offending car is kept on a side track.

Make a Note of It.

An exchange makes a center shot by saying: "Strangers, seeking homes in a new State, do not care to go to a place where there is no enterprise. They do not like to be compelled to do what old citizens ought to have done, but have failed in doing. No matter what the natural advantages of a place may be, if its residents are unprogressive, slow of advancement, capital will not be attracted to such centers."
